

Tom O'Callaghan

Post Office

Upper William Street

Limerick

Tuesday 15 November 2016

To: Executive Committee of the Irish Postmaster's Union

It is with a heavy heart I have come to the conclusion that the current Executive of the I.P.U. have failed miserably in their duty of care to guard the interest of their membership. Their silence in the current crisis of an Post announcing the unviability of up 700 offices is nothing short of shocking and comes on top of numerous decisions which have left the general membership bewildered.

In particular the Executive signing a confidentiality pact with an Post which prevents the Executive of the I.P.U. from informing its own members of the extent of the current crises.

What interests are served by this silence?

Certainly not that of the Members and Post Masters.

In all sincerity I believe I could best serve my constituents and fellow Post Masters from outside this organisation.

To this effect I now tender my resignation from the Executive and Membership of the Irish Postmasters Union.

Tom O'Callaghan

Post Master
